Del Monte Center Opens

After the initial conception of a shopping center in the 1950's by Del Monte Properties Company Board Chairman Samuel F. B. Morse, and a year's construction beginning in August, 1966, the Del Monte Center announces the long awaited Grand Opening today.

Leased to 95% of total occupancy, the $15 million Center lists 71 tenants, representative of all types of specialty and service shops found in regional shopping centers.

Dillingham Construction Company and Architect John Carl Warnecke and Associates combined their efforts to preserve the aesthetic value of the Center by building around the more than 100 beautiful oak trees and planting an additional 500 trees. The firms should be commended for their outstanding job in maintaining the natural beauty of the area. The oaks, pines and natural slope makes the Center more picturesque than the usual shopping center where bare concrete and open space prevail.

Constructed partially on two levels, Del Monte Center is comprised of 10 separate units, which are nearly all connected by malls or sheltered walkways. In addition to the beamed overhangs, building construction is of tile, adobe brick and wood. All buildings are roofed in dark-toned tile and most of the store fronts are custom designed in varying materials, lending individuality to each shop and eliminating dull sameness seen in many shopping centers.

The land is owned by Del Monte Properties and leased to Dillingham Construction Corporation. The project is owned and constructed by Dillingham Corporation. The Draper Company, original owners of the Center, by contractual agreement, turned the entire project over to Dillingham for completion of financing, construction, leasing and management through its DilcoPlan. Draper Company, by agreement, has the right to re-acquire ownership of the Center.

Warren L. Gibbs, resident engineer and owner representative, mentioned that there are 27,000 parking stalls, 5 miles of curb, and more than a million square feet of paving. He said that there are 408,000 square feet in the shopping complex with 250,-

Citizens To Discuss Higher Taxes

The Carmel Citizens Committee is holding a Town Meeting September 19, at 4 p.m. in the Sunset Center Auditorium to discuss the question of higher taxes, their effect on the taxpayer and what can be done about the situation. Special emphasis will be placed on property taxes.

A panel of representatives of the various levels of taxation, expert in their fields, have been invited to present brief statements and to answer subsequent questions. The panel includes: Carmel Mayor Steve Grant; Donald

P. Stewart, County Assessor; Clayton Neill, Jr., President of the Carmel School District Board; Willard Branson, County Supervisor; and Donald L. Grunsky, State Senator. Also present will be Mr. Arnot, Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association, to give a 5 minute presentation of their purposes and program.

WEATHER

The usual intermittent fog and sun. Temperature highs near 74, lows near 52. Chance of rain 1%.

A breathtaking view from the cliff above Point Sur by Ansel Adams, distinguished photographer, president of Friends of Photography. An exhibit of early photographs by Eugene Atget will open Friday evening at Sunset Center. Saturday, the group meets for print criticism, and Sunday morning, members will assemble at Pt. Lobos to take pictures and observe Ansel Adams, Brett Weston, and other members of the beard as they work. Non-members may participate at a fee.

"BAREFOOT" BRINGS LIFE TO FALL SEASON AT STUDIO THEATRE

It takes a good cast... a good script... and a good production crew... and a good many long hard night rehearsals to produce a play which an audience will enjoy.

"Barefoot in the Park," which opened last Friday evening at the Studio Theatre, had all these ingredients... plus a few. Maybe it was the teamwork, or maybe the interpretations that put "Barefoot" above the average production. But, whatever, this play was executed almost to perfection.

The "four-star" performance included actors: Hilary Teague, the emotionally immature housewife; Allen Yates, the stable even-tempered young husband-lawyer; Gertrude Chappell, the understanding mother, and Bob Lotz, the dashing old man next door. Also included in the cast were Dick Felty, the telephone repairman, and John Sullivan, a delivery man who spoke no lines but brought applause for a clever acting job.

Allen Yates, in his first major role, turned in a monumental performance, as Paul Bratter, never once falling into the amateur actor's pitfall of too broad facial and body actions, forced projection or over acting.

Hilary Teague, (Corie Bratter), Gertrude Chappell, (Corie's mother), and Bob Lotz, (Victor Velasco) all veteran actors on the Peninsula, followed in their usual form by keeping the production going smoothly, timing their laugh lines just right, and maintaining their characters throughout.

Robert Evans, Jr., deserves special praise for the absolutely marvelous set that was as workable as it was attractive. At the end of the first act, the curtain was drawn over a stark, cold set with no furniture, which was the atmosphere the play called for. Then, when the curtain opened for the second act, a complete transition had taken place. The apartment was decorated, and furniture moved into place in a most attractive manner. Stage Managers Carl Mountford and Alan Williams did most of the moving and what a chore. How they got all the furniture on that small stage, from a small backstage, is beyond conception.

This marks Michael Kel-

ALL NEW — Pontiac Motor Division's 1968 LeMans series features the most extensive styling changes, engineering improvements and built-in safety since the introduction of the popular series seven years ago. Pictured here is the LeMans hardtop coupe. LeMans Models also include a two-door sports coupe, four-door hardtop and convertible. For the first time two separate wheelbases are used for two-door and four-door models and engine displacement has been increased to give better performance.

CIRCLE PLANS NEW SEASON

Friday evening, September 22, has been set for the gala opening of the Circle Theatre's autumn and winter season, '67-'68.

George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" with a cast of Monterey Peninsula's favorites, now in rehearsal, has been chosen for the initial production.

A sparkling satirical comedy in which Shaw, in 1894, used his sharpest pen, debunking the glories of war and the silly romantic artifices of lovelorn ladies dazzled by strutting gentlemen in gold braid uniforms. "Arms and the Man" is as challenging today as it was nearly 100 years ago.

In selecting his productions for the coming season Norman McPhee, manager-director of the Circle Theatre, has with his Play Committee aimed at wide variety in audience appeal. Broadway successes, serious drama, comedy farce and musicals have been read and considered, with the final choices decided upon including: "The Mikado" with a cast of top flight vocalists and comedians, will be presented during the holiday season. "Luv" New York's top prize winner during its four year Broadway run, a sophisticated thought provoking comedy, about married "luv", Sean O'Casey's "Juno and the Peacock", tragedy in Dublin, a favorite with London audiences as presented by the Abbey Players. "Harvey" nonsense about a six-foot rabbit, quite real to the zany characters on stage, a comedy for all ages. And, topping the Circle season, Edward Albee's prize winning smashing success, "A Delicate Balance."

Mr. McPhee, now in his fourth years as managing director of the Circle Theatre was assisted in the new season's selections by Play Committee members, Mrs. Fritz Wurzmans, Mrs. Margaret Phillips and Robert Heater of Carmel, and Mrs. Sam Karas and Richard Bird of Monterey.

The Circle Theatre is the Community Theatre of Monterey Peninsula, a non-profit organization supported by voluntary (non-taxable) contributions and box office returns. Its board of governors is headed by Brig. Gen. Francis Hill, U.S.A. Ret. Membership cards, entitling holders to seven admissions during the year, below box office price, are available, at the theatre or at the theatre's headquarters in Sunset Center, Carmel.

All performers and backstage crews are volunteers known as the Golden Bough Players who have entertained Peninsula residents and our visitors since 1924. All residents of Monterey Peninsula are eligible to auditions given by Mr. McPhee by appointment at Sunset Center.

Children's Movies

Saturday movies for children have started at Carmel Valley Community Center. For a nominal fee, there will be two showings at one and three, with adult supervision and snack bar. Next Saturday, September 16, "Smoky", in color, about a wild horse corralled by Fess Parker, will be shown.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Being all wise, we sometimes buy young people's books for the adult collection because we think the subject is one that adults should be reading and knowing. Thus we bring you TEEN LOVE, TEEN MARRIAGE by The Public Affairs Committee. The strange thing is that it always seems a committee should be appointed by some organization or official person, but so far as we can tell this is not true in this case. Whoever this committee is, they seem to have concocted a good book for parents of teen-agers and the teen-agers themselves. In his address this spring before a graduating class, Will Durant advised them to marry as young as they could. Here is a book about it.

We have three new books about houses and men who plan them. The first is called BUILDERS IN THE SUN: FIVE MEXICAN ARCHITECTS by Clive Smith. Mexican architecture is much simpler than ours. One of the architects, Luis Barragan, says "All architecture which does not express serenity fails in its spiritual mission. Thus it has been a mistake to abandon the shelter of walls for the inclemency of large areas of glass." There are beautiful photographs here.

Paul Corey has a build-it-yourself handbook for people who are big enough and strong enough to do this sort of thing, which is building your own vacation cottage. The drawings seem to be most explicit. You may enjoy building your own shelter. Me, I like to start with a good architect and go on to a really good builder, and when all is said and done, I move in. Oh yes, the title of the book is HOLIDAY HOMES: A BUILD IT YOURSELF HANDBOOK.

Sunset has put out an interesting book on vacation houses. The title is CABINS AND VACATION HOUSES. Sunset does beautiful books and this one is no exception.

It has plans and photographs and articles, and the combination will make the reader start dreaming of a vacation place in the high woods.

SONGS OF THE SEA, edited by Paul Glass, is a satisfying book in many ways. It is a collection of chanteys, and historical songs, with both words and music. Each song has a short historical note telling how it came to be written and the background of the events it celebrated. Guitar chords are also indicated, and there are simple instructions for strumming and styling.

If your cooking is not completely confined to mixes, we have a new Better Homes and Gardens cookbook for you. It is called HOLIDAY COOK BOOK, and the pictures alone are enough to make you forget your diet and throw caution to the winds. Arranged by the holiday, there are recipes for all kinds of delectables. At the back of the book is a section on foreign cookery. Ah me, it seems eons since such food wasn't fattening!

Charles Garrigus is Poet Laureate of California, and the Huntington Press of Fresno has published a small collection of his poems. This small poem is from his book: IDENTITY

The heart of virtue is not known
By what it claims to be it's own;

Have you noticed a lot of dust on your car and in your home lately? You have probably noticed the reason why, too! This is a picture of the crew resurfacing streets in Carmel. We all hope that the dust will settle soon. Aage Knudsen who owns the Royal Danish Bakery on Dolores at Seventh said it looks like an expensive way to spend the taxpayers' money. He said it was only two weeks ago that a crew of three men and a truck were painting the parking space identity lines. Now, that work is covered over with the resurfacing.

But rather by the deed which speaks
The kind of treasure which it seeks,
See you in two weeks . . .
Ruth Galvin Thornburg
Chief Librarian.

Jeffer's "Dear Judas" At Forest

The soaring verse of Carmel's world famous poet, the late Robinson Jeffers, will be heard next Sunday afternoon September 17, from the great outdoor stage of the city-owned Forest Theater, when distinguished performers from Berkeley's Labyrinth Theater present their concert reading of the Jeffers play, "Dear Judas".

The "Dear Judas" program will start at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and admission is free. The Forest Theater is located at Mountain View and Santa Rita streets in Carmel.

Presenting the taut, tormented role of Judas is Eric Vaughn, the Labyrinth Theater's producing director, who is a widely known authority on the poetic dramas of Robinson Jeffers. Vaughn has written about "Dear Judas".

"Through all the vast fury and bitter intensity of Robinson Jeffers' poetic dramas, there is none other so tightly compressed in structure, so ruthlessly economical in language, so violently internal in its conflicts, or so irrevocably driven to its culmination as is his second play, 'Dear Judas'."

Presenting the role of Jesus in the dramatic reading, will be Glen-Charles Musagetes, while the interpretation of Mary will be given by Jill Basey. The narrative of the play tells of Christ's passion in the garden of Gethsemane.

"In structure the play is one-piece, though three marked divisions exist, each with a different personality-center — Judas, Jesus, and Mary. Opposed to the isolation of Judas, the others serve in dual roles—Jesus, later as Lazarus; Mary; first as The Mother Night — wherein they achieve some release from their entrapment. But it is Judas, mad with agony and self-tormenting, who remains caught until the culmination and his own end."

School Opens With Largest Enrollment

With some 290 students enrolled for the 1967-68 school year, the Stevenson School starts its 16th year with the greatest number of boys in schools' history.

The usual large California delegation has been supplemented with boys from Oregon, Texas, Arkansas, Montana, Nevada, Arizona, Washington, Ohio, Illinois and New Jersey in the United States, plus many boys from around the world including Libya, Hong Kong, Argentina, Costa Rica, Brazil and Mexico.

Ninety-four boys are from the Monterey region, including Salinas, Carmel Valley, Pacific Grove, Seaside, Carmel and Pebble Beach, and this also marks a high in enrollment for day students.

Along with the 90 or more boys who are new to R.L.S. are a number of instructors who bring special skills and abilities to supplement the regular teaching staff. New this year is Mr. Alexander Alm of M. I. T. who will teach Chemistry and Physics. Mr. Martin Andrews of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies in French, Mr. and Mrs. Dyke Garrison who are Occidental graduates and will both teach English, Mr. James C. Heryer of the University of Mississippi who will teach History and golf, Mr. Leslie High of Williams College in English, Mr. David Martula of Amherst will teach French and soccer, Mrs. Barbara Merrill of U.C.L.A. Reading, Mrs. Dorothy Ploss of San Diego, typing, plus Mr. Jack Waltz of Yale who will teach Geography and tennis.

Also new to the regular staff this year is Will Shaad who just graduated from Willamette University. Will, who has taught in three summer sessions at Stevenson, is the first graduate of the school to return as a teacher in his own right, and we have a special welcome for our "new" Spanish teacher.

Mr. Peter Meckel, who was the Director for the Hidden Valley Music Seminar this summer at Stevenson, will be the Executive Dean and Registrar. He is an Occidental graduate and will live on campus. Mr. Gene Carnes, an able Business Manager, joined the staff earlier this summer from his previous post as a business manager in a valley school district.

The Complete Gardener
... a regular diet of information having to do with plants

It seems that a dedicated garden enthusiast can always find something to plant here in the Central Coast counties, regardless of the calendar date. Quick now... have you sown your sweet peas?
Let's see — for winter-time it's the Spencer strains and Cuthbertons for warm weather. Correct. Early planting of peas often saves them from the hungry Nuttall's (white-crown) sparrow that will be leaving the Canadian provinces one of these days. He will notify you of his arrival with a most cheery song, then he'll check out the area for freshly-sprouted peas... and young ranunculus. That's his very favorite combination salad.
Even though you plant now, and these plants are well along when Nutty arrives, it's wise to have some garden netting on hand for protection. Perhaps you have some left over from recent duty on the fruit trees. Dear little birds.

However, we must report an example of a great service performed by our fruit-eating rascals. During the summer we were investigating the area beneath a large spruce tree and found a miniature forest of ornamental seedlings. Certain birds had eaten the ripe berries of pyracan-tha, cotoneaster, and Oregon grape, perched in the tree later, and planted the seeds.
Also discovered were young pines, firs and cedars, thriving the filtered shade and rich, acid soil under the spruce. Many of these we dug and replanted into gallon cans, watered with a vitamin-hormone solution, and can now report a 100% survival. Later on they will be transplanted in a reforestation project.
So that brings us around to reminding you that September is a great month for planting, or moving, conifers.
Nurseries are loaded with on greased rack in shallow baking pan. Bake 10 minutes, reduce heat to 400 F. and continue baking for 30 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when pierced with fork.

Do not overcook. Serve 8.
Boiled Silver Salmon: Wipe fish clean and cut into servings. Season with salt. Place slices together as before cutting and put into dampened parchment paper; tie into a bag and plunge into boiling

September Art Show

by Louise Cook

The Carmel Art Association, during September, is providing the buyer or the looker with an exciting variety of art works to enjoy and choose from.

Elwood Graham is represented by a masterful Boat and Harbor scene which fairly vibrates with color and feeling. Not very long ago, Mr. Graham's work was mentioned in Fortune Magazine as one of the best investments among West Coast painters for the collector. His paintings are among the collections of several museums throughout the country.

Royden Martin's Portrait of his daughter can be described as tenderly beautiful. This master of portraiture also excels in his delicate ballet dancers and nude figures, which are well known to all

The coming boom in housing!

The post-war baby-boom, which in past years generated major investment opportunities in baby food, textbooks and toys, may soon make itself felt in housing. And the build-up could be accentuated by the fact that the housing industry will be catching up with deferred demand. New home construction has been running well behind the nation's basic needs because of tight money.

To highlight the investment opportunities created by this new situation, Dean Witter & Co. has issued a special report on the building industry which covers these and other related factors.

Most important, the report covers three companies which appear to be very attractive investment vehicles for participation in a home-building revival.

For your free copy of this important study, just stop by your nearest Dean Witter office. Or, if you prefer, complete and mail the coupon below. There is no cost or obligation, of course.

French Exchange Student

After a flight from Paris, two-days in New York, and a four day bus trip across country, Miss Anne Francoise Bathiat, American Field Service student at Carmel High School, was met in San Francisco by her host family, Mr. and Mrs. James Harkins, and her American "sisters", Betsy and Cassie Harkins, both students at Carmel High School. Anne Francoise traveled with some of the over 3,000 American Field Service students from 60 countries who will be living in over 2,800 American communities this year.

Miss Bathiat is from Northern France. She has four sisters and two brothers and attended the "Institution Jeanne d' Arc in Roubaix, Nord, France. She enjoys horseback riding, swimming, and sailing.

While participating in the community, studying and enjoying school activities, and sharing the family life with the Harkins family, Anne Francoise will learn first hand of many different aspects of our life — of our customs, ideals, and interests, and problems, and will broaden our horizons by telling of her country and daily life in her home.

While participating in the AFS program, Carmel High School entered two students in national competition for placement in the AFS Americans Abroad program. Jim Buzaid, son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Buzaid, was selected by the New York AFS staff and is living with the Ake-H. Ahlstrom family in Djursholm, Sweden, about five miles from Stockholm, attending school with his Swedish "brother". With this two way program young citizens learn to appreciate and to respect the similarities and differences of people who, though they live in different countries, have dreams and efforts similarly directed toward the goal of a peaceful and useful life.

Friends of Photography Schedules New Show Sept. 15

On Friday, September 15, at 8 p.m. the public is cordially invited by the Friends of Photography to attend the opening of an exhibit of the photographs of Eugene Atget at the Carmel Photography Center in the Sunset Center.

The 51 photographs in this traveling exhibition from the Collection of the George Eastman House of Photography, Rochester New York, are original prints made by Eugene Atget between 1910-1920.

The exhibit will be on view through October 15th.

Jean-Eugene-Auguste Atget was born in Libourne near Bordeaux, France in 1856. At the age of forty he turned first to painting and then to photography, photographing ancient missions, churches, shopfronts, courtyards and small tradesmen as "Documents for Artists." Artists including Braque and Utrillo bought his photographs and in some cases worked directly from them to the canvases.

This exhibit is part of the continuing effort of the Friend of Photography to bring before the public photographs of significant merit and high quality by photographers both past and present, known as well as unknown.

Friends of Photography is a membership organization. For information write Friends of Photography, P.O. Box 239, Carmel, California.

Hospital Building Fund Requirement Is $596,000 More

More than $1,348,000 has been raised to double the floor space at Community Hospital. Dr. A. Carol McKenney, chairman of the Board, said today another $596,000 is needed to complete the Project '69 building program scheduled for completion by 1969.

Mr. McKenney said that Project '69 is to provide 74 new patient beds at a cost of $1,500,000. This will meet inpatient care needs until 1975. Service departments are to be expanded to meet the requirements of a full 300-bed hospital planned for 1985. The cost of expanding the service departments is $2,300,000.

Pledges to date include $50,000 from hospital employees, $100,000 from the Auxiliary, $211,000 from the board of trustees, $258,000 from the medical staff and $729,000 from life members.

The hospital needs the remaining $596,000 to match a $1,944,000 Federal-State Hill-Burton grant.

MARKET COMMENTARY

Dow Theory Business and Stock Market-Forecasts letter of Sept. 8 states "The recovery that started just before Labor Day carried over this week but we are still skeptical of the period just ahead; continue to buy and hold stocks, protecting your portfolio with a 25% reserve."

"Historically, the period following Labor Day is one of weakness."

"The recent August decline may have taken the place of the expected September irregularities but we feel clients should continue to exercise caution until more evidence of this is seen. Buy and hold stocks but do not be surprised at more sell-offs the next 60 days."

Those words "Spirit" and "spiritual" really mean something, Glenn L. Morning, C.S.B., of San Francisco, told his audience at Sunset Auditorium last Sunday. When you've grasped that meaning you'll have found what you can depend on, he emphasized. The lecturer spoke here under the sponsorship of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel.

But Mr. Morning's solution won't do for the lazy thinker or for the person satisfied with the old bromide, "Nothing's certain but death and taxes."

If we're going to find God and rely on Him, "we need to understand Him," the lecturer said. "We need to know enough about Him—about His nature—to know why we can trust Him."

"What does the word 'Spirit' mean to you?" Mr. Morning asked his audience. "Does it mean something tangible, real, living? Or does it imply something insubstantial—illusive, nebulous, vague?"

He told of his own search for a solid definition—something that made sense to him personally. He said he'd found in Christian Science that he could think of divine Spirit as unchanging Principle, undeviating Truth, divine Mind, wholly good and incapable of evil.

To illustrate the unvarying nature of God as Love, or divine Principle, Mr. Morning recalled for his listeners, the Bible parable of the prodigal son. This "impetuous, restless young man" when reduced to poverty and despair, remembered the love and security of his father's house, and went home.

There he found true dependability, the lecturer said. "His father's love expressed invariable, patient, changeless Principle. His father was watching and ran to meet him. All the good the young man had left was still his, still waiting for him, when he returned."

Mr. Morning told of a modern-day parallel in the story of a woman who had drifted away from spiritual things. Some years later, she became ill, and was operated on for gallstones. Things went well for a while but she had a relapse and a second operation was quickly scheduled.

"When my friend learned of the seriousness of her condition," Mr. Morning continued, "she decided it was time to start thinking about God and her relationship to Him. She remembered the prodigal son and the joyful reunion with his father when he returned home. It was time, she thought, to get home to her Father-Mother Good and His all-embracing love.

"She called a Christian Science practitioner whom she hadn't talked to for several years. He reminded her of God's great love for her. He assured her that, regardless of where she seemed to be, she could never be separated from God's healing presence. . . . That night she slept peacefully.

"Her doctor arrived at five-thirty the next morning to prepare her for surgery. When he looked at her chart, he was both delighted and amazed. The fever had broken, and by noon her temperature was normal for the first time in five weeks. . . . The spiritual forces of good had proved themselves completely dependable."

"Christian Science rests entirely on a spiritual basis," the lecturer stated, "but it gives evidence of the supremacy and dependability of Spirit right here in the human realm. It does this by revealing spiritual facts about God's nature and our relationship to Him and His beloved children. As we understand and depend on these spiritual facts, they control our human experience for good."

"In today's world," the lecturer observed, "there's a tendency to overrate the transitory and temporal, and to undervalue the substantial and dependable. The Apostle Paul said: 'We look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal' (II Cor. 4:18).

"Matter is deceptive," Mr. Morning said. "It represents a limited, finite, mistaken or deluded concept of substance."

"Christ Jesus exercised complete spiritual dominion over his human experience and outward circumstances by understanding that Spirit alone is the source and substance of life." Mr. Morning reminded his listeners of Jesus' words, "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing" (John 6:63).

"The Christ endowed Jesus with divine power—practical, spiritual power which dispelled fear, subdued sin, healed the sick, enabled him to transport himself instantly from one place to another when the need arose. He even raised the dead.

"But the Christ did not leave earth with the ascension of Christ Jesus," Mr. Morning declared. "The Christ, or divine Truth—uniquely expressed in Jesus—is a universal force. It is present here and now. It's still healing and redeeming mankind. It is teaching men that Spirit alone is dependable."

Carmel Museum Of Art Opens Saturday Eve

A nostalgic evening is in store for members and invited guests of the Carmel Museum of Art who will gather Saturday evening at eight at the former Wells Fargo building on Dolores Street, north of 7th Avenue, for a champagne preview of a comprehensive showing of the work of outstanding artists of the Carmel-Monterey art colony from 1875-1945. On Sunday, and daily from 11-5, the collection will be open to the public at no charge.

During the opening, a bronze plaque will be unveiled in the entrance portals on which the names of all museum members who donated $1,000 or more, or the equivalent in works of art, to the most recent addition to Carmel's cultural life, will be engraved.

Those whose names will appear are Samuel F. B. Morse, Leonard K. Firestone, Justin Dart, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson T. Nowell, Charles H. Russell, Charles Crocker, Anthony Russell White, Mrs. Anthony Russell White, Alexis White, Mrs. Burton Boundey, Mrs. Myron Oliver, Mrs. Jean Abel, Mrs. Theodore Wores, Dr. Ben Shenson, Dr. Jess A. Shenson, Mrs. Louise Shenson, and Caldwell Banker and Company. The name of the late Mrs. Henry Potter Russell will also be engraved on the plaque as well as two anonymous designations.

The Carmel Museum of Art of which Kent Seavey is Curator, is dedicated to the collection, preservation and presentation of the works of art of this colony which made the Monterey Peninsula a nationally known art center.

It is a non-profit institution supported by donations and memberships. All persons who are or who become members are invited to the festive opening. Further information may be obtained by calling 624-1424.

LINES FROM LOIS

FAMILIES: JUST TRY THIS FOR SIGHS

THE LIVING ROOM: Charming! That wonderful rough paneling, white-wiped, exposed beam ceiling. Mullioned windows with wide ledges. Floor to ceiling brick fireplace wall, raised hearth, slab mantle. Hardwood floors, big guest closet, and Dutch front door.

THE DEN: Ideal retreat for Dad. Knotty pine with built-in gun closet, cupboards, book shelves, and 22 hobby-holding drawers.

THE DINING ROOM: So gracious, with wide louvered doors to the living room and an outside door to the rear patio areas. All-over patterned wallpaper, brass hanging lamp, brick barbecue, and service bar to kitchen which closes off with 6-panel louvered shutters.

THE KITCHEN: It's "wife engineered." Knotty pine cabinet and millwork, 2 chopping blocks, stainless counter tops and appliances, 28 cupboards and 23 drawers.

THE LAUNDRY AND SERVICE ROOM: Really big enough for an ironing board and your sewing machine, and there's a half bath. Just off this room, a big workshop with an outside door (or it would be easily another bedroom, if you need four.)

THE BEDROOM WING has the master bedroom with off-white carpeting, bay window, louver-door closets and storage and bath with tile shower and wainscoting. Main bath has double sinks, glass-doored tub and one of the two children's bedrooms is finished in knotty pine.

OTHER NICE THINGS give this house a friendly air. It's barn red trimmed in white, with a brick front walk, and lawn really big enough for badminton, croquet, tea parties, or just lying on the thick grass and watching the clouds. Beautiful shade trees, many of them fruit-bearing. Completely and tightly fenced rear and side yards, charming low ornamental rail fence across the front. The Barbecue patio is separated from the play and service yards. Another plus—it's located in that sunny Hatton Fields area so wonderfully convenient to all schools, to all areas of the Peninsula, and to shopping. If it's YOUR family size, may we show you? (It's never been on the market before)

Hearings On Sunset Re-zoning

The Planning Commission reviewed yesterday afternoon at a special meeting the draft of the ordinance which will re-zone the Sunset Center from an R-1 to A-2 District. Public Hearings were set for October 25, 1967. Anyone for or against this re-zoning should be present at this hearing.

Much of the afternoon's discussion centered around the desirability of serving food and drink at the Sunset Center, and who should be permitted to manage such a concession. It was agreed and emphasized that in all fairness it should be advertised for competitive bids to give anyone an equal opportunity to compete for space in Sunset Center.

The commissioners heard Sunset Center manager Cole Weston point out that Sunset is in dire need of something, such as a restaurant or concession to encourage traffic through the Center, otherwise some tenants might get discouraged and move away. Weston emphasized this point by mentioning that only six persons in one day toured through the highly professional show at the Photo Center, sponsored by the non-profit Friends of Photography. A person is at the gallery four hours a day. Weston mentioned "Rings" as a possibility for opening a restaurant.

The Commissioners made it clear that they are not in complete favor of a commercial restaurant; but merely a snack bar type concession.

Between the time the draft was read and the Public Hearing set on October 25, the Commissioners wish to study the effects re-zoning of Sunset would have on the adjacent area surrounding the center.

The re-zoning will permit the use of the center for performing arts, creative arts, workshops, recreation, parking, facilities, food and drink concession and governmental and civic meeting places, among a number of other uses. Most of the activities must meet with the approval of the Sunset Commission, Planning Commission and the City Council before being allowed the privilege of going into Sunset Center.
